About Us

NTL

NTL merged with the Department of Transportation (DOT) Library in 2008 to create a consolidated information center for transportation research.

What We Do:

- Provide resources for all modes of transportation with emphasis on highway, rail, maritime and public transportation
- Network with public and private transportation information providers
- Provide on-site services to the public
- Serve as a portal to full-text transportation research and data

Services:

- Specialized reference assistance in person, by phone, and email
- Resource training seminars
- Interlibrary loan
- Public workroom with internet access, printer, and microfiche reader/printer
- Full text digital repository and research databases.
