Index of Section 16 Providers By Headquarters County 273

Introduction

This directory is a comprehensive listing of all 3,673 private, nonprofit and public agencies providing transportation to elders and persons with disabilities through the Federal Transit Administration's (FTA) Section 16 capital assistance program. It is the first such directory since the 1989 Directory of UMTA-Funded Rural and Specialized Transit Systems, and is one of three volumes that comprise an update of the 1989 directory and its accompanying statistical profiles. The other two volumes are the Directory of Rural Public Transportation Providers Funded Under FTA's Section 18 Program and a Status Report on Public Transportation in Rural America.

The primary purpose of this publication is to assist in identifying and locating individual Section 16 providers. There are, however, other important potential uses for the directory. First, the paratransit planning process required by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the transportation plans required by the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) both demand a comprehensive review of all transportation activities within a community. This review should include the specialized transportation services provided by private nonprofit agencies in the Section 16 network. Both states and individual transit systems should find this directory helpful as they begin implementing their complementary paratransit plans under ADA and the public transportation management systems required by ISTEA.

How the Network Was Identified

The Section 16 network described in this directory is comprised of agencies with vehicles or other capital assets such as computers or radio equipment that were funded by Section 16.

The guiding principle in this directory is to include all agencies operating equipment in which the state or federal government maintains a financial interest. This may have resulted in a slight undercount of the network, because many providers are still operating vehicles that have exceeded their useful life. Because there no longer is a state or federal interest in these vehicles, such agencies may not be listed here.

To identify the network, listings from the 1989 directory were combined with data gathered from the 1991 and 1992 Programs of Projects each state submitted to FTA as part of its Section 16 grant application. The resulting lists were then submitted to each state's Section 16 administering agency for updating, verification and correction. Individual providers were contacted in cases where states could not provide information needed for this directory.

What This Volume Contains

This volume has three principal sections: (1) a statistical profile of the Section 16 network, (2) a complete listing of Section 16 providers arranged by state and agency name, and (3) an index listing Section 16 providers by the state and county in which they are headquartered.

► Profile of the Section 16 Network

A brief statistical profile of the Section 16 network comprises the first section of this directory. The profile includes summaries of the Section 16 network by size and service area, vehicle characteristics and funding patterns.

This profile is an update of one that was prepared in 1991 as an offshoot of the 1989 directory. It is based on information collected from a national random sampling of 459 providers representing the large-urban, small-urban, rural and mixed urban/rural segments of the Section 16 network. These urban and rural definitions are consistent with those used by FTA in its operating assistance programs:

Large urban:	areas over 200,000 population
Small urban:	areas between 50,000 and 200,000 population
Rural:	areas less than 50,000 population

► Section 16 Providers by State and Agency

A state-by-state listing of Section 16 providers comprises the second segment of this directory. Within each state, providers are listed alphabetically by agency name. Each listing includes a mailing address, phone number and contact person's name. Also included is the name of the county in which the agency is headquartered and the number of active vehicles acquired with Section 16 assistance.

Two important facts to note:

- The "Headquarters County" identifier is included as an aid in determining where a Section 16 provider is located. It is not intended to represent a provider's service area. Some providers operate only within a particular city or town, others operate countywide, and others serve all or part of multiple counties. Information on a given provider's service area is best obtained by contacting that provider directly.
- The listed vehicle fleets represent only those vehicles acquired with Section 16 assistance. There are some instances in which Section 16 funds were used to acquire capital assets other than vehicles, such as computers or radios. In these cases, it is possible for a provider to have no Section 16 vehicles in its fleet. Some states have taken advantage of the flexibility in ISTEA's amendments to the Federal Transit Act and have awarded Section 16 funds to agencies that purchase transportation services from third parties. In these cases, it also is possible for a provider to have no Section 16 vehicles in its fleet.

► Index of Section 16 Providers
by Headquarter County

The third section of this volume is a cross-listing of Section 16 providers by the state and counties in which they are headquartered. While this cross-listing is intended as an aid in locating Section 16 providers, readers are reminded that "headquarters county" indicates the county in which a provider's office is located, and is not a reliable indicator of the provider's service area.

Project Staff

This directory was prepared by a project team from the Community Transportation Association of America (CTAA), consisting of George Rucker, Chris Zeilinger and Carolyn Jeskey. Guidance, oversight, and editorial and layout assistance were provided by Barbara Rasin Price, Nathalie Oliver, Donna Savage, and Scott Bogren. Gail Cain and Angela Mason were instrumental in securing accurate up-to-date directory listings.

Acknowledgements

Heartfelt thanks are due to Sue Masselink and her colleagues in FTA's

Office of Grants Management and FTA's regional offices for their tireless cooperation. Appreciation is due to the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) for its encouragement in this project. Gratitude is due particularly to the Section 16 program managers in the 50 states and the District of Columbia, without whose diligent and willing spirits this directory would never have become a reality.

And Finally...

This directory was prepared by CTAA for the Rural Transit Assistance Program (RTAP), administered by the American Public Works Association under a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Department of Transportation, Federal Transit Administration. It was prepared by CTAA's RTAP project staff, October 1994.

Profile of the Section 16 Network

The Section 16 network is comprised of transit agencies and other organizations that receive at least some funding under Section 16 of the Federal Transit Act. As of 1993, there were 3,673 agencies included in this network. This represents a 5 percent nationwide increase from 1989 due to some significant regional changes: a 22 percent increase in the number of Midwest agencies and a 19 percent decrease in the number of agencies in the Northeast. During this time, the network grew in the South by 9 percent and in the West by 3 percent.

Vehicles and Clientele

The total number of vehicles operated by agencies in the Section 16 network is estimated at 28,664, nearly 37 percent larger than reported in 1989. Forty-three percent of this total, or 12,226 vehicles, were obtained with Section 16 assistance, a decline from 52 percent in 1989; the remaining 57% of the vehicles were obtained through other funding sources. The average fleet size reported by Section 16 agencies grew from 6 vehicles to nearly 8 vehicles. Taking these statistics together, however, the average number of Section 16 vehicles operated by each agency has remained relatively constant: 3.2 vehicles in 1989 and 3.3 vehicles currently.

Persons with disabilities are served by the largest number of transit providers, 46 percent. Elders are served by 45 percent of providers. The remaining 9 percent of providers serve both or the general public. This national pattern is influenced by the fact that 63 percent of agencies in the Northeast serve primarily persons with disabilities. In all other regions, agencies serving primarily the elderly slightly outnumber agencies serving primarily persons with disabilities.

Agencies serving primarily persons with disabilities are consistently larger, in terms of number of vehicles operated, than agencies serving primarily elderly persons. Agencies serving primarily the general public are significantly larger than either, averaging more than 16 vehicles nationwide.

Section 16 assistance is most important for agencies serving primarily the elderly, accounting for 53 percent of their vehicles. This compares with 42 percent of vehicles for agencies serving persons with disabilities and 28 percent of vehicles for agencies serving both and the general public.

Size and Service Area

Twenty percent of the Section 16 network is comprised of agencies that operate only one vehicle; this statistic represents a major decline from 1989, when 29 percent of the agencies operated a single vehicle. The largest number of single-vehicle agencies serve rural areas (408 agencies; 20 percent of rural providers); however, the largest percentage of single-vehicle agencies are found in large-urban areas (255 agencies; 24 percent of large-urban providers). Agencies that operate one vehicle are least common in small-urban areas, where they account for 12 percent of the providers.

Almost half of all agencies operate three or fewer vehicles, so the median fleet size is four—one more than in 1989.

The largest increase in the Section 16 network has been among agencies operating five or more vehicles. In 1989, 35 percent of Section 16 agencies operated 5 or more vehicles; that share has increased to 42 percent. With an average fleet size of almost 16 vehicles, this group of agencies accounts for 74 percent of the Section 16-funded vehicles (and 84 percent of all the vehicles). Single-vehicle agencies account for only 6 percent of all Section 16 vehicles and less than 3 percent of all vehicles operated by the network.

Fifty-five percent of all Section 16 agencies serve rural areas and another 5 percent serve mixed urban and rural areas. Twenty-nine percent of the agencies operate in large-urban areas and the other 11 percent operate in small-urban areas. Agencies serving rural areas operate the smallest fleets, with a median fleet size of three vehicles. Agencies serving mixed service areas operate the largest fleets, with a median fleet size of six vehicles.

Vehicle Characteristics

More than 75 percent of the 12,226 currently active Section 16 vehicles are vans. Another 13 percent are small buses, seating 16 to 24 passengers; 5 percent of these vehicles seat more than 24. This represents a slight increase in the share of vehicles larger than 16 passengers: in the 1989 profile, 11 percent were small buses and 3 percent were larger buses that carried more than 24 passengers.

Fifty-seven percent of the vehicles are reported as lift- or ramp-equipped, compared with 44 percent in 1989. For vehicles with capacities of fewer than 25 passengers, the accessibility rate represents nearly a 10 percent increase from 1989. For larger vehicles, the share reported as lift- or ramp-equipped has declined; 41 percent of the largest buses are wheelchair-accessible. Nearly 60 percent of the Section 16 vehicles are five years old or older.

Funding Patterns

The Section 16 network reports an aggregate operating budget of $635.2 million. There is a wide range in agency size: half of the agency budgets are over $55,000 and half are below that amount, whereas the average agency budget is approximately $173,000. The largest providers serve mixed urban and rural service areas; the smallest providers serve only rural areas.

Funding from human services programs is the most important source of operating funds. Two-thirds of the providers and three-fourths of those serving rural areas report funding from human services programs, and those sources account for 43 percent of total operating funds. Human services funding is most important in rural areas and least important for the agencies serving mixed service areas. Among the human services programs, elderly service funding is most frequently reported, by 31 percent of the agencies. However, Medicaid is the single largest funding source, supplying 16 percent of all funds.

State and local funding is a significant source of support, particularly in urban service areas. In large-urban areas, 15 percent of the Section 16 providers report state or local funding, but that funding makes up 35 percent of the total.

Fares or contributions are a minor source of funding, although they are cited as a source by a majority of the agencies. This source is most frequently reported by rural providers but is most significant, in dollar terms, for providers serving mixed urban and rural areas.

Summary

The Section 16 network represents a large and diverse group of transit providers, from rural, single-vehicle operations to large-urban systems that operate sizable fleets made up of many kinds of vehicles. A combination of FTA Section 16 funding and funds from human services programs is crucial to the continuation of transit services by these agencies. It is these Section 16 providers who represent mobility for elders and persons with disabilities in communities across America.
