Office of Statistical and Economic Analysis

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

This report has been prepared by the Port Department of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey (PANYNJ) under the direction of Avis Pauga. This report is the result of a joint project with the PANYNJ and the Department of Transportation's Maritime Administration (MARAD) with the funding support of the Bureau of Transportation Statistics.

In addition to this printed report, the data is available in computerized dBase format in 4-digit or 6-digit Harmonized Commodity Code detail. Requests for this data should be addressed to Robert G. Christensen, Data Coordination and Evaluation Group, Office of Statistical and Economic Analysis, MAR-450, Room 8107, Maritime Administration, 400 Seventh Street SW, Washington, DC 20590.

INTRODUCTION

This report summarizes U.S. cargo which moved via Canada in 1993. Summaries are provided showing transshipped cargo through Canada in historical perspective, by customs district, by country, and by leading Harmonized 4-digit commodity code. Appendixes E-1 and I-1 are summaries of trade by country within customs district. Appendixes E-2 and I-2 contain computer printouts of leading 4-digit Harmonized commodity movements by U.S. customs district. Please note that the data is now in metric tons, as opposed to long tons utilized in previous reports. A brief description of the methodology used in deriving the transshipped cargo is provided in a section following the summary tables and charts. In addition to the report, this data is available in computerized dBase format in digit or 6-digit Harmonized Code detail upon request from the Maritime Administration.

METHODOLOGY

Data Source

The source for export data is the monthly U. S. Department of Commerce All Methods EM-522 data tape, and for imports it is the IM-145 tape. These data tapes provide U.S. trade by customs district by country of origin/destination in terms of value and weight. They contain the total value and net quantity from all methods of transportation, the dollar value and weight of waterborne and airborne shipping weight separately. The monthly tapes were processed and consolidated into quarterly data, from which the annual 1993 data is derived.

Procedure

The derivation of the U.S. cargo transshipped via Canada is based on the presumption that for those customs districts which are along the Canadian border, or in close proximity to it, the difference between the total value of U.S. exports or imports for a particular commodity to or from a country, less the sum of waterborne and airborne cargo for that commodity, is the cargo which must have moved via the Canadian Gateway. For example, cargo moving to the United Kingdom exported from Detroit, but not exiting the U.S. by water or air, is assumed to have moved via Canadian ports. A similar procedure applies for imports, though the set of customs districts is broadened to include additional districts to which the cargo may have moved in-bond.

Weight is estimated by taking the derived value figure for a particular 6-digit HS commodity in a given month, and dividing it by a dollar per metric ton factor. This factor is derived from the value per ton relationship of waterborne cargo for that particular 6-digit Harmonized commodity moving to or from a given country via U.S. ports. Monthly data is used to reduce errors due to price and currency exchange fluctuations.

The data was further refined and adjusted for reasonableness of the dollar per ton conversion factors. Also, to minimize errors, certain commodities such as self-propelled aircraft, repairs, imported gold, diamonds and gemstones, low value shipments, and certain products known to have been re-exported were excluded.

Beginning with 1990 data, more accurate procedures were used to estimate weight, and the data was more closely scrutinized to reduce data errors. Consequently, comparisons with data prior to 1990 may show some discontinuity.
