MESSAGE FOR NATIONAL COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN

Many doors have opened to women in the past 25 years. Yet the pace of progress has failed to match the quality of talent and degree of energy and commitment that women throughout society are eager to contribute to our nation's problems. One of the greatest satisfactions in my life is the opportunity to face challenging issues, to help shape policies that affect us as a nation, and most of all, to help make a positive difference in people's lives. We need the skills, talents, and enthusiasm of women and men to help us meet the challenges of the future.

With all best wishes,

Elizabeth Hanford Dole
