

TALKING POINTS PREPARED FOR SECRETARY DOLE

CAPPER FOUNDATION CAMPAIGN

TOPEKA, KANSAS

FEBRUARY 14, 1987

- Thank you Roger (Franzke, of Bank 4 in Topeka) for that kind introduction.
- Delighted to be here to help inaugurate the Capper Foundation's first public campaign. First time in the 67 years of the Capper Foundation that a formal public campaign is being launched.
- You are a marvelous example of the energy President Reagan has sought to revive in this country, a renewed confidence in the spirit of public service and the helping hand of friendship and compassion that built our great nation in the first place. And you certainly are an inspiration to me.
- My husband Bob has said of volunteers such as yourselves, "I appreciate the time and effort and the many things you do, but the only ones who really know your work are the ones you help. "We know some of the things American volunteers do -- whether it is an hour a day or a week. If they were looking for recognition, they would not be in the voluntary service." I think you in this room today are a wonderful example of that volunteer spirit.
- As many of you know, Bob is the National Honorary Chairman of the Capper Foundation Endowment Campaign, so I don't need to tell you how highly he regards the work of the Capper Foundation -- or how disappointed he is about not being able to be here with you today. He
