This is a semi-private club. It was necessary to insure the golf director (Pro. Frank H. Cronin) that our play will not interfere with that of the members. Therefore, please give way to members at the first tee. Green fee is $3.00 for this excellent course.

The big one to end the season is at the Reston North Golf Course, Reston, Va. The tentative date of August 18th will probably be changed to the 25th. There will be added contests and exceptional awards for this one. Gene Wolz, Ext. 27758.

THE ADMINISTRATOR

Dear Mr. Chevalier:

I have learned that, as Club President, you were among the employee leaders who signed the farewell scroll which was presented to me today.

It is not possible for me to address a thank-you note to everyone who signed, but I would be pleased if you would extend my gratitude for their kind expression. I feel I was signally honored to be associated with such a dedicated group of public servants.

Sincerely yours,

Jeet Halaby

PICNIC BALL GAMES

ADS challenged ATS to a ball game - and guess who won? ATS skunked SRDS by a score of 8 to 0!

The FAA men were so afraid the gals soft ball team would beat 'em that they (the men) put about a dozen women in the out-field, including their wives, some of whom had never played ball in their lives - so guess who won! The men, of course. Had they played even with the gals, Ye Old Ed is sure the final score would have been ENTIRELY different!

WEDDING BELLS

Miss Margaret L. Griffen, GC-23, will become the bride of Donald J. Kohoutek on August 7th at St. Francis de Sales Church, Washington, D.C. Best of luck to two nice youngsters!

=====

Boy, have you noticed how Rhoda Janko's left shoulder is sagging with the weight the new ring on her third finger, left hand?

FEDERAL AVIATION CLUB ANNUAL PICNIC

One look at the happy, ice-cream stained faces of several hundred youngsters who came to this year's annual FA Club picnic should have convinced anyone that this outing far surpassed all previous extravaganzas. The Club presented the largest selection of rides, games, food, drink, music and other entertainment ever offered to our members at the annual picnic.

While teenagers were twisting in the shelter house, children were in the midst of a balloon-blowing contest and ponies were plodding along their beaten path -- the FA Club softball team was drubbing an AT-RD contingent. While couples were vying for prizes in a clothes-hanging contest, youthful squeals of ecstasy blended with the happy melody of the merry-go-round. While the losing side in a tug of-war bit the dust, others were tumbling through a three-legged sack race.

But the high point of the picnic saw several hundred couples lined up for an egg throwing contest. The line stretched almost the full length of the 200-yard playground. As the distance between couples was increased after each toss, more and more eggs ended up in the coiffures and attires of the contestants. The overhand faster-than-lightning delivery of some contestants indicated something more than the spirit of the game! But these fast-ballers were quick to deny that pent-up feelings towards their spouses might have influenced their performance.

Though it will be hard to top this one next year, we promise to try!
